OF POLITICAL MATTERS IN GENERAL, A. GALL, THE IS—SPOKE A. St. Stephens the citizens of Augusta last night. He about two hours and a half. He re-his-tory of the Government from the to the present time, showing that the has always been between centralism tutionalism. The passage of the civil would work great evil and destroy the pol system of the South. He returned at Grant; he would not do so. His duty. As to a third term he had to that per se. He saw no reason why who executed the laws faithfully be held for a third term if the

It. He had looked into the Louisiana and saw no sense in abusing President Grant's action in this affair. He spoke of the future of the republic, and adjured us to obey the laws and support them, and be true to the Constitution and established by their fathers. He presented a Jeffersonian Democrat, and faith in the triumph of those principles. He had an immense audience, and a clearness and vigor, exhibiting no writers.

Chandler has taken as the text of his

The State was carried by nearly 20,000 of the Democratic candidates for Governor, being the strongest mass they obtained, which in 1872 the State went Republican, 20,000 majority. It is estimated for 20,000 majority. The State will go in by an average majority of 10,000, there is no political excitement and no reason to expect the State in the coming campaign.

tion nominating for Governor, John J. the present incumbent, and is worth the waiting to see whether the new administration has been a safe one, and the financial condition of the never more satisfactory.

Senator Henry Chamberlain, of Warren Granger of prominence and influence, popular in Western Michigan. This of year, it is fore-mentioned that this year will not come to the fore. The Republican majority will be re-born 10,000. The license plank in the platform and the silence of the Republicans on that issue is the key to the German vote from the Republicans. The local influence in this city growing pork question are likely to lose their vote.

Legislative fight is another matter of prominence, the campaign, and although Senator

Mr. Waldron is not at all certain. Of course inside track, prestige and wealth in politics are two or three names mentioned by him, that of Hiram Johnson, who is running the Second Congressional district, being most prominent. Mr. Waldron is a banker of Milwaukee, and has served four Congresses very successfully. His record is in a Senatorial contest, has the advanced record and the reputation of taking his friends.

The Congressional delegation was reduced, and with but two exceptions there is no doubt of their re-election. Those are in this, the first, and the Sixth Congress represented by Mr. Joseph R. Buchanan, represented by Mr. Field, the latter is a sharp and close one, and if the two are united in support of Gen. Willcox, the candidates they may have in 1870 Wayne county, which composes the over 700 majority for the Democratic for Congress. In 1872 Field carried the 1,000 majority, the opposing party disgruntled. Gen. Williams has a station as a soldier, and will undoubtedly fill position vice.

Democratic district, which gave Mr. Wald 7,000 majority in 1872, there is no doubt section by 2,000 majority. Two counties district are Republican—Millville and—and two Democratic—Monticello and—the former giving large and the all majorities. Its opponent, John J. of Washington county, a farmer and will run well in his own county, no chance of success.

Third district, represented by Hon. Geo. there will be only the form of a contest. The Republican who receives 2,000 majority will, this fall, receive at least 3,000 majority. The present incumbent is a prominent being Elias Leaverton, of Mr. Burrows is a good record in Congress, and well-triamped re-election, of which there is no doubt whatever. Mr. Willard said that he recognized Mr. Burrows as the Battle Creek Journal, the ablest in the State, and is also prominent in education, being one of the regents of the university.

County district, now represented by Hon. Burrows, there is a lively contest, but no doubt of his re-election. His opponent is Foster, of Kalamazoo. Mr. Burrows has been elected by a majority of 2,000 in 1890. Mr. Burrows is one of the most campaign speakers in the State, and he is running a campaign for his district, all the way from Kalamazoo to the State capital.

Mr. Burrows is having a slight opening out of a post-office war at Kalamazoo. It is reported that a new post-office building is to be erected, and it is probable that the Bureau community—

young businessman, and an arbitrator—the opposition is confined to a few circles. There is no doubt of his election, 2,000 majority.

Fifth district, represented by Hon. Wm.
Wm., there is a sharp contest, but as his
is a second edition of his term, there is no doubt of the re-election of Williams. A fair majority. Mr. Williams is an able and has a good reputation throughout the community in the western.

Sixth district, now represented by Hon-
able, a very close contest is expected, chances in favor of Mr. Durand, the opposition. The contest is expected to be over 1,600 Democratic majority in 1910 an equal candidates, and although Mr.
control over 8,000 majority in 1912, that the representation of the relative strength of the is in the district.

Seventh district is also considered close,

A point is sought to be made against her because he took his "back pay," advocated against the bill in all its stages; and so no Indians are to be made happy by resented unfavorably to Mr. Conger. Conger is a clever, garrulous old power broker, who wants to make the salary scale the issue of the campaign for himself and Mr. Conger, which the friends there are not likely to allow to be done without. Mr. Conger received 400,000 a year ago, and so far as can now be ascertained is to be re-elected.

John Dister, represented by Hon. N. B. and known popularly as his "Bagman," will withdraw himself from the fight by at least 1,000 majority, his opponent exceedingly "light weight" candidate, a fair record-making Congress man, and a man of the "hot" and "cold" trail

There is no intervention, however, even if it is demanded out by a victim and Mr. Hubbell is inclined to a resolution to be loyal in obtaining for his extended recognition of his interests, which it is to receive, but which to the last two has not been engineered through the representatives.
